In his essay "Health Is Membership," Wendell Berry says, "To be healthy is literally to be whole... Our sense of wholeness is not just the completeness in ourselves but also is the sense of belonging to others and to our place... I believe that the community, in the fullest sense: a place and all its creatures... is the smallest unit of health and that to speak of the health of an isolated individual is a contradiction in terms."